

TRIVIA QUIZ WITH THE MAD SCIENTISTS !

Franken-Quiz with performers Dean Howarth & Tony Casperite.

Want to match wits with two mad scientists? Topics in Science and Science Fiction are the themes for Quizmasters, Dean Howarth and Tony Casperite. Sci-Fi has always intrigued curious minds and we live in a scientific age where intelligent robots and missions to Mars really exist! Mix that excitement with the popularity of pub quizzes and trivia nights and you have a marketable event suitable for gatherings of curious visitors to conferences, planetariums, museums, etc.

Appearing in costume as two mad scientists, Tony and Dean, lead a comical yet challenging trivia quiz that can be customized to suit the audience. Questions might be about Professor Einstein or Doctor Who... Jupiter or Krypton... Apollo 11 or the Millennium Falcon. At a time where added attention is being given to STEM education, the “Franken-quiz” program can be a fun way to entertain AND educate audiences. The interactive audio-visual quiz game can be catered so as to infuse “real science” into a variety of other topics...Using Science Fiction as a vehicle for Science Non-Fiction is just one way the Mad Scientists can stimulate the brains of their captive specimens!

Tony Casperite, an illustrator and graphic artist, and Dean Howarth, a high school science teacher, have a natural rapport based on a 40 year friendship. Tony’s creativity and Dean’s science background have been on display most recently at the David M. Brown Planetarium (Arlington, VA) where their act featured in the planetarium’s Sci-Fi Weekend - <http://friendsoftheplanetarium.org/post/52/>

The quiz program resembles the familiar and popular pub trivia night concept, but is suited for any ages and any interest group. The event is easy to put on and flexible in nature, requiring little more than is expected for a guest speaker. Visual and audio can be included as well. Dean & Tony can create quizzes for teacher workshops, fan conventions, student gatherings, parties, or forums.
